However, in general, the party history education for middle school students in Bazhong and Bazhong still focuses on knowledge teaching, which leads to the lack of attractiveness of party history education. In view of this, it has become an urgent problem to explore the integration of local rich red resources into the party history education of middle school students, enhance their interest in learning party history, and combine the theory and practice of party history education.

3. The path analysis of Bazhong red resources into middle school students' Party history education

3.1 Optimizing Bazhong red resources into the teaching design of party history education for middle school students

3.1.1. Integrating red resources into teaching objectives

If a teacher wants to make his classroom teaching orderly, he must have a clear teaching objective, and a clear educational objective plays a very important role in the selection of teaching content, the arrangement of teaching activities and the design of teaching links. Therefore, it is particularly important to integrate red resources into middle school students' party history education. Taking the high school politics "Value Creation and Realization" as an example, teachers can introduce the revolutionary martyr of Pakistan and China -- Liu Bojian to realize the value of life. First of all, clear knowledge objectives, to help middle school students understand and master how to create and realize the value of life. Secondly, clear ability target, study the revolutionary martyrs' heroic and fearless spirit, guide students' life ability. Thirdly, clear emotional attitude and values, learning the story of revolutionary martyrs, guide middle school students to establish a correct outlook on life, world outlook, values, healthy growth of middle school students play an important role. Among the middle school education courses, other secondary school curriculum, especially party history courses such as history, language, art also high school students as the important carrier of education, to give full play to the role of the course education, combined with relevant party history education target, will be incorporated in the education teaching, red resources in the teaching of a migration of middle school students to carry out the party history education.

3.1.2 Integrating red resources into the teaching content

Bazhong red resource has its own unique advantages due to its large reserves and variety. On the one hand, it can provide vivid cases, stories and other teaching resources for party history education of middle school students, and enhance the attraction of party history education of middle school students. On the other hand, it is helpful to help middle school students firm ideals and beliefs to realize the value of life. Teachers can explain the connotation and significance of red resources to students in the classroom teaching of party history education. For example, taking the representative red resource in Bazhong -- The Forest of Generals stela in Sichuan-Shaanxi Soviet Area as an example, teachers can introduce this resource to students as material red resource. If teachers can summarize relevant resources, integrate relevant content into classroom teaching, and introduce the general situation of red resources to middle school students, it will not only help middle school students to understand relevant knowledge, but also stimulate the enthusiasm, initiative and creativity of middle school students to inherit red culture. In addition, the school can make full use of local resources and hire experts outside the school to interpret the relevant knowledge of red professionally, so as to deepen the understanding of red resources for middle school students and better learn the history of the Party. In addition, the school organized teachers to write teaching cases about bazhong Red resources, providing teaching materials for teachers to carry out party history education of middle school students.

3.2 Transforming Bazhong red resources into middle school students' party history education and teaching methods

3.2.1. Taking multimedia teaching method

The so-called multimedia teaching method refers to a teaching mode that improves the teaching effect by presenting the teaching content in vivid pictures, text, animation, music and so on with the help of multimedia assisted teaching. Due to the party history related knowledge, there is a certain distance from middle school students, relying on teachers to adopt a single teaching, easy to make students have rebellious psychology. At present, some middle schools in Bazhong make use of red resources to carry out party history education, without the full use of media equipment, resulting in poor party history education effect.[7]In view of this, we should use multimedia to integrate red resources into the party history education of middle school students, so that the party history education is more vivid, more intuitive, more easy to understand, so as to enhance the appeal and appeal of the party history education. Therefore, teachers can develop red resource courseware with the help of multimedia equipment and do a good job in party history education of middle school students. Therefore, first of all, in the courseware construction stage, according to the party history knowledge module, combing knowledge points. Secondly, in the courseware construction stage, the introduction of bazhong red resources related pictures, videos, audio, etc., to stimulate the thirst and curiosity of middle school students to learn party history knowledge. Finally, teachers can share in the school's public number, official website, on the one hand, can stimulate students' interest in party history knowledge, on the other hand, help students make full use of fragmentary time to learn party history knowledge.

The so-called topic teaching refers to the creation of topic situation, guide students to discuss around the topic, through discrimination learning, improve the subject core accomplishment and ability of students.[8]Issues by creating situations, flexible will party history story online, guides the student to draw lessons from history, from the history to relive the glory days of the party, the confidence of the students to follow the party determination, for example, in the box problem "how to realize the value of life", "history of the party character -- Liu Bojian" as subject to import new lesson, to Liu Bojian deeds through classroom; Set up the general topic: study party history figures, create and realize the value of life. Three sub-topics: "create and realize the value of life through labor and dedication", "create and realize the value in the unity of individual and society", "create and realize the value of life through self-improvement", and finally summarize and sublimate the general topic. Through the guidance of the problem, will create and realize the value of life knowledge and Liu Bojian's revolutionary story together, carry out relevant activities, guide students to explore, so that the effectiveness of party history education of middle school students, to help students establish a correct world outlook, outlook on life, values.

3.3 Strengthen the integration of Bazhong red resources into middle school students' party history education practice teaching

3.3.1. Carrying out campus practice activities

To develop the party history study education of middle school students, we should not only base on classroom teaching, but also play the role of extracurricular practice. Making use of the local red resources in Pakistan and China to carry out party history education for middle school students is helpful for students to understand the history of the founding of the Party and the history of arduous struggle in activities, and to narrow the distance between students and party history knowledge. Specifically, the following campus practice activities can be carried out: First, design the campus culture publicity column. Students will collect relevant knowledge of local red resources in Bazhong, such as the stories behind the martyrs' gardens and the heroic deeds of revolutionary heroes during the revolutionary War, and integrate them into the campus culture. The migration will have an impact on students, improve their enthusiasm to participate in the study of Party history, and constantly improve their consciousness. Second, carry out the red classics recitation competition. For example, students recite "Fetters with Fetters" by Liu Bojian, the revolutionary martyr of Pakistan and China, to learn the qualities of patriotic dedication and fearless struggle of revolutionary martyrs. At the same time, deepen the understanding and mastery of history, improve political literacy. Under the new situation, with the improvement of living standard, the ideas of individualism and hedonism emerge endlessly. Therefore, it is urgent to integrate red resources into the party history education of middle school students, strengthen the education of ideals and beliefs and patriotism, so as to cultivate the spirit of hard struggle of middle school students.

3.3.2. Organizing red research activities

In March 2021, the General Office of the Ministry of Education issued the Notice on Organizing and Carrying out Educational Activities themed "Party History of Primary and Secondary Schools Always Follow the Party" in Primary and Secondary Schools, which arranged a series of activities of "Seeking the Red Footprint" in red education practice. All middle schools should combine the actual situation of schools and students and use red resources to carry out party history study and education. Bazhong has many local red education bases, which provide new classrooms and bases for middle school students to learn party history knowledge. Organizing middle school students to carry out red research activities not only helps to arouse students' interest in learning party history, but also helps to spread red culture, guide middle school students to form correct ideological values and moral qualities, and deepen their understanding of the national spirit. Therefore, the school should make full use of the local red resources, plan the route of studying red for middle school students, and strengthen the education of party history for middle school students. For example, the garden mausoleum of the Red Army martyrs in the Sichuan-Shaanxi revolutionary base can be regarded as one of the important points in the study of red. Through students' personal participation, students can feel that today's happy life is not easy. In short, we should actively guide middle school students to participate in the red research activities, enhance the appeal of middle school students' party history education, and really achieve the study of history of understanding, study of history to increase credibility, study of history of worship, study of history of practice, so as to improve the effectiveness of middle school students' simultaneous education.
