1. Introduction

As the old saying goes, “if you don't believe, you don't believe”. No matter what kind of industry, country is inseparable from integrity, integrity is not only an important measure of a person's life in today's society, but also a comprehensive embodiment of his personal qualities. For a country, good faith is an important basis for its existence and long-term development. so honesty is very important, personal and social.

2. The Intension and Characteristics of Integrity

When we understand the importance of good faith, we must understand what it contains, so what is good faith? And what sort of generalization? Honesty is the basic requirement and criterion of a person's morality. Confucius often said that “Deacons, Deacons, and People Loyal”, as college students should be more aware of the importance of honesty, but in real life to develop good integrity habits, but must have certain principles, to be a law-abiding, honest, trustworthy people. There are several characteristics about the existence of honesty. First of all, the reality of honesty, the reason will refer to reality, because in the actual society the existence of honesty is the most intuitive a person's outlook on life and values of correct or not, the reality of honesty still exists in the development of things, we know that the only constant is the change, honesty as an influential factor exists in all people, things and society, and will change with time, people and things, and this change is also a good measure of people, so realistic. Secondly, the practicality of honesty, talking about practicality is the test in practice, but this kind of test needs to be tested through practice in practice. The test in practice is not only a test of ideological consciousness, but also a test of ideological consciousness. It is not difficult for us to understand that the reason why we call it a test is because we can see whether the index of honesty reaches a certain height through practice. These two characteristics of honesty can be said to be very persuasive, can be experienced in practice and can only be seen through the display of behavior, so when we understand integrity through practice can see, feel.

3. The Value of Integrity

The reason why honesty has the value of existence, not only from its theoretical surface, but also from its practical internal point of view, the reason why we should face from two levels is more important is to let us truly explore its intrinsic value of the long-term impact on us, so that we can understand the value of honesty. First of all, the existence of honesty is the best action explanation for theoretical knowledge, we simply see honesty from the book, but in fact, honesty is not only the connotation of the extension, small to the individual, big to the country, and honesty is not only a word, but also an idea, an idea, an idea, a behavior habit, whether from the point of view of the individual or the country can only be the important guarantee of personal conduct, but also the important guarantee of the existence of the country, we know that honesty is not only a superficial meaning, but also an intrinsic meaning, as a developing country with a history of thousands of years, our history is not only a history, but also the development of the country is not only an economic strength, but also an important aspect of the integrity of the country from the perspective of the country. Secondly, we have to look at the value of honesty from another angle. It can be said that if a country without honesty is impossible to exist, then we can use our party to express ourselves that the existence of a party is not only its relationship with the people, but also its actual sincerity which it can fulfill. We will always say that our party adheres to the principle of “serving the people, serving the people, serving the people, serving the people more, and serving the people in good faith [1].

In short, no matter how reflected the value of theory or how far-reaching the impact of the ultimate or integrity of the value of the embodiment, without integrity of the individual is unable to obtain long-term development, without integrity of the country cannot exist for a long time.

4. The Malpractice of Dishonesty

There are two sides of things, we have been talking about honesty, but we are not difficult to see that the phenomenon of dishonesty also exists in reality, for example, we see the actual situation from their own point of view, take the most real things in our life to say, each of us has the actual situation of online shopping, when we see the online review is very good, but when we actually go to buy, there is a big gap between the physical and the evaluation, so that when we give feedback to the merchant, the merchant will return the goods, exchange the goods, although the result is good, but in the actual existence of such a phenomenon of honesty, although you will say this is not a good faith, but we know that we have a “child” so there is no old man “, so there is no deception, whether it is an idiom, whether it is an old man or an old man who should not cheat, therefore have to say that From the national point of view, in terms of the news we always see, of course, we don't mention here what kind of country it is, just to refer to this incident, the whole world is against nuclear weapons, but some countries have signed non-nuclear agreements, but they are privately manufacturing nuclear weapons, such as not organizing the army, but some countries have violated the agreement, which is not a sign of bad faith. It is obvious that nuclear bombs and troops are not much related to us, but we have to see the problem of the line through the point, through the line of response, if the integrity cannot be a firm agreement, whether it is the individual or the country as a whole its long-term existence will also play a bad role, it can be said that the people who cannot abide by the integrity will eventually lose the bottom line, and the people who do not have the bottom line will gradually become a negative factor in society, the social stability cannot play a positive role, and more important is that this kind of integrity will also have the same effect as butterfly, so it has a negative impact. In addition, from the national point of view, if a country cannot take good faith as its normative principle, the national culture is like this, then what will its citizens be? I believe it's not just the butterfly effect, it's going to be broader and deeper [2].

5. The Significance of Integrity

Honesty is not only an important embodiment of ideology, but also an important embodiment of morality. Combining with our actual honesty, it is not only a theoretical understanding, but also a practical action to practice it. First of all, honesty is based on an intangible asset in society, priceless and intangible, but it is a comprehensive embodiment of quality [3]. Secondly, the existence of honesty can help to build a positive psychology, because honesty is mutual, not only self-interest but also altruism, so on such a basis of mutual benefit will have a positive impact, and this positive impact will naturally lead to the promotion of an excellent quality, excellent quality. Finally, integrity can create an atmosphere, in such an atmosphere, whether from the perspective of people or from the country will be conducive to social progress and the overall quality of the promotion of people. In a word, the existence of honesty is like a “invisible frame” will give us a certain ideological constraints, not beyond this “frame “, but not subject to its constraints, more than a standard [4].

6. Conclusion

In general, we are talking more about honesty as a theoretical requirement, but in practice we should see more of the long-term impact of honesty on us. It is difficult for people to exist in society without faith, it is difficult for countries not to believe in the world, and we know that people belong to the society, the state is also made up of people, and the impact of people without faith on the country is far-reaching. Therefore, talk about the integrity of the talks and people's quality [5], talk about the quality of the talks and the culture of the country, talk about the inside information will return to people. Therefore, the integrity of the basic integrity of the people, integrity of the people to determine everything.
