Abstract: Xi Jinping's youth view in the new era is the "youth chapter" of Xi Jinping's socialism with Chinese characteristics in the new era and the latest theoretical paradigm of Marxist youth view. It not only explains the epistemology of what kind of youth to train from the theoretical dimension, but also clarifies the methodology of how to train young people. Its system construction can be explored from three aspects: reality dimension, theory dimension and value dimension. Studying and interpreting Xi Jinping's youth view in the new era is of great practical significance and far-reaching historical significance, which is conducive to promoting the development of youth work in the new era and leading Chinese youth in the new era to actively participate in the vivid practice of the great cause of national rejuvenation.

Keywords: new era, Xi Jinping's youth view, Newcomers of the Time

1. Introduction

At the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Communist Party of China, General Secretary Xi Jinping profoundly reviewed the great achievements made in youth work under the strong leadership of the Party in the past century. He sent it to the vast number of Chinese youth and profoundly pointed out: "In the new era, Chinese youth should take the realization of the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation as their own responsibility, enhance their ambition, backbone and confidence to be Chinese, live up to the times, live up to the glory, and live up to the ardent expectations of the party and the people." [1] Since the 18th National Congress of the Communist Party of China, General Secretary Xi Jinping, standing at the height of passing on the cause of the Party and the people from generation to generation, is eagerly looking forward to sending a message to Chinese youth in the new era, encouraging the broad masses of young people to forge ahead, seize the opportunity of making contributions and the golden period of growth and success, and strive for the Chinese dream of the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation. In the report of the 19th National Congress of the Communist Party of China, the discussion with teachers and students of Beijing Normal University, the symposium between teachers and students of Peking University, the centenary of the May Fourth Movement and other important occasions, General Secretary Xi Jinping expounded and talked about youth many times, and formed Xi Jinping's new era youth view in the vivid practice of governing the country in the new era.

2. Mining and clarification: the generation logic of Xi Jinping's youth view in the new era

It makes sense to hold it for a reason. At present, the profound changes in the world situation, national conditions and party conditions are the main basis and realistic source for the formation of Xi Jinping's youth view. From the perspective of the world situation, today's world is undergoing a great change that has never happened in a hundred years. The competition among countries in the world is becoming increasingly fierce. Talents are increasingly becoming a key factor in improving comprehensive national strength, and youth are playing an increasingly obvious role in the international arena; From the perspective of national conditions, China in the new era is in a critical period of building a strong socialist modernization country in an all-round way and realizing the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation. In the new era, Chinese youth shoulder the historical mission of national rejuvenation and are the main force of young people to realize the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation; From the perspective of the Party's situation, youth is an important force to promote the development of the cause of the Party and the country. The more the cause of the Party and the country advances, the more it cannot be separated from the determined struggle of youth. Attaching importance to, winning and relying on youth are the magic weapon and the key to success for the long-term development of the cause of the Party and the country.

2.1. From the perspective of the world situation, the world is facing a great change that has never happened in a hundred years, providing an opportunity for contemporary Chinese youth

First of all, the new changes in the international situation put forward new requirements for young people. The report of the 19th National Congress of the Communist Party of China made a basic judgment on the current international situation, and profoundly pointed out that "the world is in a period of great development, great change and great adjustment, and peace and development are still the theme of the times" [2]. Today's world is undergoing great changes that have never happened in a hundred years. The situation and environment are changing rapidly, and the number of contradictory risks and challenges is unprecedented. The cross-border, relevance and amplification of various risks are significantly enhanced. Countries are more interconnected and interdependent than ever before, and mankind is in an era of endless challenges and increasing risks. Human beings are facing the question of the times and human proposition of what happened to the world and what we should do. The new changes in the international situation present new features and changes. At the same time, China is still in a period of great strategic opportunities for development. In the new era, Chinese youth should base themselves on the unprecedented changes in the world in the past century, grasp the "change" and "unchanged" of today's world development, carry forward the spirit of struggle, contribute their wisdom and strength to build a community with shared future for mankind and realize people's happiness, and become the mainstay of promoting the cause of peace and development of mankind.

Secondly, the diversity of world cultures has brought impact to the construction of youth values. Under the background of cultural diversity, many young people are vulnerable to the invasion and interference of various western erroneous thoughts. The struggle in the ideological field at home and abroad is getting worse and worse, and all kinds of ideological ideas and political parties and groups "you sing and I come on stage"; Western countries use the characteristics of interactivity, concealment, virtuality and permeability of network media to infiltrate lifestyle, values, ideology and religious beliefs; Countries all over the world implement cultural export or cultural protection under the banner of cultural protectionism mechanism. To a great extent, the comprehensive competitiveness and development potential of a country also depend on youth groups, and the ideology, values and behavior habits of youth influence or even determine the development of the whole country and society to some extent. General Secretary Xi Jinping once profoundly pointed out: "Contemporary youth are active in thinking, quick in thinking, novel in concept, wide in interest, full in exploring the unknown, quick in accepting new things, and strong in subjective consciousness and participation consciousness; Young people are not experienced, and it is easy to understand and understand the world from their own perspective and from the perspective of ideal state, which inevitably brings limitations to them." [3] 13 All kinds of ideological trends in the world exchange, blend and confront each other, and foreign hostile forces have not relaxed their strategy of Westernization and differentiation in China for a moment. In the new era, Chinese youth must always be vigilant, establish correct values, and consciously resist the infiltration and invasion of Western countries' ideology.

Finally, the new situation of international competition puts forward higher requirements for young people. The deep development of world multipolarization, economic globalization, cultural diversity and social informationization has changed the form of competition between countries. The competition between countries presents a more complex situation, the connotation of competition is richer, and the scope of competition has expanded to broader or new fields. For example, seizing the commanding heights of the Internet has become a new focus of international competition, attaching importance to national governance has become a new focus, and high-tech talent competition has become a new key point. The Internet has become a revolutionary factor in the development and changes of many fields and industries. The Internet not only contributes to the efficient allocation of resources, but also reduces economic and social costs. Technological innovation can promote the explosive growth of innovation vitality, which will inevitably become the commanding heights of competition that countries must seize. The higher the national governance capacity, the stronger the international competitiveness. In the new period, many countries pay more attention to national governance, resolve social contradictions, adjust social structure, coordinate and optimize the relationship among government, market and society, and release the vitality of market and society to enhance national competitiveness. Young high-tech talents are scarce talent resources, and they are also the key factors in many elements of national competitiveness. Talent competition has become an important part of international competition. "The contest of comprehensive national strength is a protracted war, which not only looks at the present, but also pays more attention to the long-term. The potential lies in the youth and the stamina lies in the youth." [4] In the new era, the role of youth in international exchanges and regional cooperation is becoming more and more prominent, and youth should consciously improve their own literacy and resonate with the times at the same frequency.

2.2. From the perspective of national conditions, socialism with Chinese characteristics has entered a new era, providing the best stage for Chinese youth to develop

First, young people are witnesses, witnesses and practitioners who strive to achieve the goal of "two hundred years". After all, the historical mission of national rejuvenation depends on youth. General Secretary Xi Jinping profoundly pointed out that young people are the most dynamic and creative group in the whole society, and they are the new force and commando to achieve the goal of "two hundred years". Nowadays, most college students are about 20 years old and are in the golden period of life development, which is completely consistent with the realization of the goal of "two hundred years". They will witness the whole process of realizing the goal of two hundred years. Youth is the social force leading the trend, and its value orientation determines the value orientation of the whole society in the future. Youth is in the critical period of the formation and establishment of values, so it is particularly important to cultivate and educate youth values. The majority of young people should firmly grasp the development opportunities of the times, grasp the pulse of the times, base themselves on the new development stage, enhance their sense of historical mission and responsibility of the times, actively participate in the great cause of socialism with Chinese characteristics in the new era, and contribute wisdom to the realization of national prosperity, national rejuvenation and people's happiness.

Second, young people are leaders and participants in promoting the construction of a community with shared future for mankind. General Secretary Xi Jinping repeatedly mentioned and affirmed the important role of youth in the process of building a community with shared future for mankind on diplomatic occasions: On October 3, 2013, when he delivered a speech in the Indonesian National Assembly, he pointed out that it is necessary to "adhere to the mutual affinity and promote youth, think tanks, parliaments, non-governmental organizations and social groups" [5]; On October 26, 2015, in the congratulatory message at the opening ceremony of the 9th UNESCO Youth Forum, it was emphasized that young people are the most energetic and dreamy, and are future leaders and builders; On August 28, 2018, in a reply to the youth representatives who participated in the "the belt and road initiative" Youth Creative and Heritage Forum, they emphasized that youth is the future of the motherland and should make efforts to build a community with shared future for mankind; On September 3, 2018, at the opening ceremony of the Beijing Summit of the Forum on China-Africa Cooperation, it was profoundly pointed out that youth is the hope of China-Africa relations. These important judgments and viewpoints show General Secretary Xi Jinping's strategic vision. In the new era, Chinese youth should set the right course, establish a sense of hardship and global vision, pay attention to national destiny, national destiny and human destiny, and exert great energy in building a community with shared future for mankind.

Third, youth is the strong stamina for building a socialist cultural power. If culture is prosperous, the national movement will be prosperous, while if culture is strong, the nation will be strong. Cultural construction is an important part of the overall layout of the "Five in One", and building a socialist modern cultural power is an inevitable requirement for realizing the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation. Inheriting and carrying forward Chinese excellent traditional culture is the basic, overall and strategic task of national development. The Fifth Plenary Session of the 19th CPC Central Committee clearly put forward the long-term goal of building a cultural power by 2035, and emphasized promoting the construction of a cultural power during the 14th Five-Year Plan period. Only by exploring the outstanding advantages of carrying forward Chinese excellent traditional culture and promoting the creative transformation and innovative development of Chinese excellent traditional culture can it be transformed into a powerful force for building a socialist modern country in an all-round way and realizing the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation. Young people should learn the eclectic and profound Chinese culture, learn to understand the roots, veins, sources and flows of culture, comprehend extraordinary ideological power, absorb rich spiritual nourishment, enhance cultural self-confidence, gain a firm foothold in the agitation of world culture, and strengthen confidence in the construction of a cultural power.

2.3. From the perspective of the Party's situation, attaching importance to the growth of youth is the hope and fundamental requirement for the prosperity of the cause of the Party and the country

On the one hand, youth is the solid foundation and talent guarantee for the CPC to govern the country.

History and practice fully show that the development and progress of the Party's cause is always closely related to youth, and youth work cannot be separated from the leadership of the Party. "China's revolutionary cause begins with youth." [6] "In the Revolutionary War years, the vast number of young people were full of revolutionary ideals and shed their blood for national independence and people's liberation; During the period of socialist revolution and construction, the vast number of Chinese youth actively responded to the call of the Party and the state to defend and build the motherland; During the period of reform and opening-up, the broad masses of young people issued the strong voice of the times of uniting and revitalizing China, forging ahead and forging ahead for the prosperity of the motherland." [7] In pursuing the truth of saving the nation, in the process of national liberation and in the process of building New China, young people have played a great role in promoting and made indelible contributions. "Representing the broad masses of young people, winning the broad masses of young people, and relying on the broad masses of young people is an important guarantee for our party to continue to move from victory to victory." [8] Therefore, only by attaching great importance to youth can we promote the development of the cause of the Party and the state and ensure that the cause of the Party and the state will be passed down from generation to generation.

On the other hand, the Party's own team is constantly developing and growing, which requires strengthening the construction of young talents and young cadres. The Communist Party of China has experienced a profound transformation from "fighting the country" to "sitting on the country" and from the revolutionary party to the ruling party, which is also a process of expanding the mass base of the party. With the development of the cause of the party and the state, the cohesiveness of the party has been continuously enhanced, and the increase of highly educated young talents in the ranks of party members has become a significant trend. The Communist Party of China has gone through a glorious struggle for a hundred years. "Today, it has become the world's largest ruling party with more than 95 million party members, leading a country with a population of more than 1.4 billion and global influence." [1] The most important reason why the Communist Party of China can overcome numerous difficulties and obstacles and constantly create a new realm of the cause of the Party and the people is that it can always adhere to the mass line under the guidance of Marxism and constantly consolidate the mass base of the Party, including youth. Under the new historical conditions, knowledge and information change rapidly, opportunities and risks interact, and high-quality and professional young party members and cadres are, to a great extent, the basis for our party to resist risks and challenges and strengthen its self-confidence in power.

3. Exploration and deconstruction: the main meaning of Xi Jinping's youth view in the new era

Xi Jinping's view of youth in the new era is a scientific theoretical system with extensive content, rich connotation and rigorous logic. It stands at the strategic height and the forefront of the times, reflects the correlation between youth progress and the future of the country, and is a major theoretical innovation that draws lessons from historical experience and grasps future development. Xi Jinping's youth view in the new era expounds the vision of what kind of youth to cultivate in the new era from the goal dimension. This paper explains the fundamental question of why youth should be trained in the new era from the value dimension, and expounds the path question of how to train youth in the new era from the practice dimension, which not only answers the "epistemological question" of youth training, but also answers the "methodological question" of youth training. Therefore, starting from the goal dimension, value dimension and practice dimension, it is beneficial for us to have a deeper understanding and grasp of the ideological connotation of Xi Jinping's youth view in the new era.

3.1. What kind of youth to cultivate: The goal dimension of Xi Jinping's youth view in the new era

What kind of youth to train is the primary issue of Xi Jinping's youth view in the new era. General Secretary Xi Jinping pointed out in the report of the 19th National Congress of the Communist Party of China: "The younger generation has ideals, skills and responsibilities, and the country has a future and the nation has hope." [9] Ideal, ability and responsibility are not only the basic connotation of the newcomers of the times, but also the distinctive symbol and specific requirements of the newcomers of the times, which constitute the core elements of Xi Jinping's youth view. General Secretary Xi Jinping profoundly answered the question of what kind of youth to train from the relationship between the goal of educating people and the requirements of the times, and from the relationship between youth progress and the future and destiny of the Party and the country. First, we must train young people with firm ideals and beliefs in the new era. Ideals guide the direction of life, and beliefs determine the success or failure of career. Young people's ideals and beliefs are related to the future of the country. Young people have lofty ideals and firm beliefs, which are the invincible driving force for a country and a nation. Therefore, it is necessary to guide the broad masses of young people to establish a firm ideal of permanent struggle and sincere dedication for the motherland and the people, inspire young people to devote all their enthusiasm to the socialist cause, and realize their life value in the mutual promotion of ideals and beliefs and practice refinement. Second, we must cultivate young people with excellent skills in the new era. Excellent skills are the basic prerequisite for being able to be an officer and accomplish things, and skills are acquired through learning. "In the new era, Chinese youth should enhance their sense of urgency in learning, strive to improve their humanistic quality, increase their knowledge and temper their character in learning, and increase their talents and practice their skills in work. Serve the people with real talents and contribute to the country with innovation and creation." [3] 10 In the process of building a socialist modernized country in an all-round way, excellent skills are a powerful guarantee for solving difficult problems, overcoming difficulties and carrying out the cause to the end, and are the driving force and confidence for us to dare to fight and be good at fighting in the face of risks and challenges. Therefore, to cultivate young people with excellent skills in the new era, it is necessary to cultivate young people's ability to reserve knowledge, apply what they have learned, and be upright and innovative. Third, we must train responsible young people in the new era. The spirit of taking responsibility is one of the lofty characters and necessary qualities of newcomers of the times, and it is also an important prerequisite for promoting the great cause of national rejuvenation. At present, "the changes in the past century and the overall revival are intertwined, and the global civilization evolution, development and change, value reshaping and academic contention are at a new historical intersection." [10] The challenges we are facing, Both domestic and international, There are both social fields and natural ones, In order to better cope with foreseeable or unpredictable risks, we must base ourselves on the domestic and international situations, combine the overall situation of the great rejuvenation strategy of the Chinese nation with the theme of the times of unprecedented changes in the world in a hundred years, and cultivate young people in the new era who keep pace with the times, walk with the world, seek rejuvenation for the nation and seek common ground for the world.

3.2. Why should we train young people: the value dimension of Xi Jinping's youth view in the new era

First, adapt to the inevitable requirements of the new historical position. The report of the 19th National Congress of the Communist Party of China made a historic judgment that "socialism with Chinese characteristics has entered a new era, and the main social contradictions in our country have undergone fundamental changes". This scientific judgment reflects the theoretical character of our Party keeping pace with the times. The new historical position, the corresponding world situation, national conditions, party conditions and people's feelings are constantly undergoing new changes. "What kind of society to build and what kind of goals to achieve, people are the decisive factors." [11] The proposition of cultivating new people of the times who are responsible for national rejuvenation, It is put forward based on the historical position of China entering a new era of socialism with Chinese characteristics. It puts forward specific standards for newcomers from the aspects of higher ideological level, political consciousness, moral quality, cultural accomplishment and mental state, which reflects the fundamental law that human development and progress must be compatible with the development and progress of the times. Second, it is an inevitable requirement to undertake a new historical mission. Entering a new era, the world is undergoing great changes that have never happened in a hundred years, and realizing the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation is in a critical period. The closer we are to the goal, the more complicated the situation is, the more arduous the task is, and the more we need young people with a new look and high quality in the new era to face difficulties and stand up. Building a modern socialist country in an all-round way and realizing the Chinese dream of the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation is a relay run, which requires new people of the times in Qian Qian to run one after another. Therefore, we should pay close attention to the training of socialist builders and successors who are responsible for the great cause of national rejuvenation as a major strategic task and hope project, and constantly cultivate new people of the times who are confident, moral-abiding, dedicated, hard-working and enterprising, so that young people in the new era can become vigorous forces driving the Chinese nation to accelerate towards the great rejuvenation. Third, it is an inevitable requirement to complete new historical tasks. "At present, the changes in the past century and the epidemic situation in the century are intertwined, the world has entered a period of turbulent change, and the instability and uncertainty have increased significantly... Asia and countries around the world should respond to the call of the times, work together to overcome the epidemic, strengthen global governance, and build a community with shared future for mankind. The direction is constantly moving forward." [12] In the video keynote speech at the opening ceremony of the Boao Forum for Asia Annual Conference 2021, General Secretary Xi Jinping focused on the current international and regional situation and global risks and challenges, and explained China's concept and China's plan on the development and prosperity of Asia and the world, demonstrating China's role as a big country that promotes common development through practical actions and makes due contributions to building a community with shared future for mankind. The road of peaceful development is the solemn commitment and responsibility of the Communist Party of China for the future direction of the world. In the new era, if we want to continue to take the diplomacy of a big country with Chinese characteristics well, we cannot ignore the strength of youth. Young people play an important role in promoting world peace, development and stability and in countries' foreign exchanges. Therefore, we should cultivate young people's international vision and world vision, guide young people to actively go out and communicate with young people from all over the world, and be participants in building a community with shared future for mankind in telling Chinese stories well, conveying Chinese voices and displaying the image of a big country.

3.3. How to train youth: the practical dimension of Xi Jinping's youth view in the new era

How to train young people, this is a practical way to train young people in the new era from the practical dimension, and it is a response to the confusion of "where to go", "how to go" and "who to go with". Xi Jinping expounded the ways and means of youth training in the new era on many occasions, which can be summarized into three levels: First, guided by socialist core values, strengthen the education of ideals and beliefs, and solve the problem of youth's lack of ideals and beliefs. Ideals and beliefs are indispensable "calcium" for youth's growth and development. If they lack ideals and beliefs, they will become rootless trees and waterless sources, and they will lose their spiritual motivation to move forward. Among contemporary youth, there are still a large part of them who don't know enough about Marxism, and their ideals and beliefs are not firm or lacking. Ideals and beliefs are the beacon of career and life, which determine our direction and position, as well as our speech and actions. This requires us to solve the "master switch" problem of world outlook, outlook on life and values in time, and guide Chinese youth in the new era to firmly establish the common ideal of socialism with Chinese characteristics and the lofty ideal of communism, set up the initial intention of always following the Party, and set up the lofty ambition of striving for the country, the nation and the society. Second, inspired by the hard struggle spirit of the Communists, we encourage young people to increase their knowledge in their studies and solve the problem of youth skill panic. Attaching importance to and being good at learning is a fine tradition formed by the Communist Party of China in its long-term practice, and it is also a great political advantage. The Communist Party of China must rely on learning to go to the present and the future. Learning itself is a manifestation of hard work, We should inspire and guide young people with the Party's spirit of struggle, Recognize the importance of learning, realize that the knowledge foundation in youth is thick or not, which affects or even determines one's life, guide young people to establish the concept that dreams start from learning and careers depend on skills, enhance the sense of urgency of knowledge renewal, lay a solid foundation for basic knowledge, and increase knowledge in learning and talents in work. Third, inspired by the great spirit of struggle, we should enhance the practical experience of young people and strengthen their sense of responsibility. Unwilling or afraid to take responsibility reflects a lack of courage and fighting spirit. However, "our party relies on struggle to go to today, and it must also rely on struggle to win the future." [13] This requires the broad masses of young people to consciously strengthen their struggle experience, strengthen their will to fight, practice their struggle skills, enhance their confidence in struggle, bravely shoulder heavy burdens, work hard, do not flinch in the face of risks and challenges, and leave a struggle footprint in the cause of building socialist modernization.

4. Mirror and transcendence: the era value of Xi Jinping's youth view in the new era

Xi Jinping's youth view in the new era is the latest theoretical expression and achievement of Marxist youth view, which enriches and develops Marxist youth theory, is the "youth chapter" of Xi Jinping's governance of the country, and has important theoretical and practical significance. Xi Jinping's youth view in the new era is a youth development requirement with more specific goals, richer connotations and more accurate positioning in the new era, which reflects the great importance attached by the CPC Central Committee with Comrade Xi Jinping as the core to youth and marks that our party's understanding of youth work has reached a new height. It has achieved innovation in theory, conformed to concrete reality in reality, and planned properly in strategy.

4.1. Theoretical innovation: It has opened up a new realm of Marxist youth theory and enriched the treasure house of Marxist theory

Xi Jinping's youth view is an innovative theoretical achievement combining Marxist youth theory with China's concrete reality, a contemporary expression of Marx's youth thought in China, and contains Marxist standpoint, viewpoint and method. Attaching importance to youth groups, youth work and youth education is the common value orientation of several generations of CPC leadership collectives, and it is the creative transformation and innovative development of Marxist youth theory. Classical Marxist writers have always highly valued the role of youth in social life and regarded youth as an important force to promote social progress. Engels commented that youth is "a member of the decisive 'commando' of the international proletarian army". Mao Zedong put forward the famous assertion that "youth is the sun at eight or nine o'clock", Deng Xiaoping put forward that youth should be new people with "four hopes", Jiang Zemin put forward the youth thought of "four unifications", and Hu Jintao put forward "four hopes" for youth. In the course of leading the Chinese youth movement, the Communist Party of China inherited and developed Marxist youth theory. Since the 18th CPC National Congress, On the basis of inheriting the youth thoughts of predecessors, Closely following the pulse of the times, Looking at youth and youth work from the overall situation of the cause of the Party and the state, Have high hopes for young people to grow into talents, This paper makes a new exposition on the mission and responsibility of contemporary youth in deepening reform and realizing a well-off society in an all-round way, He put forward many original viewpoints and new theories. He attached great importance to youth education, emphasized the importance of youth work, formed a Marxist youth view with distinct times in the 21st century, and expanded and enriched the latest theoretical realm of Marxist youth theory.

4.2. Practical significance: It has written a new chapter in youth development in the new era and provided scientific guidance for the growth and development of youth

Theory comes from practice and guides the development of practice. Xi Jinping's youth view comes from practice, which will certainly promote the development of practice and provide a practical guide for doing a good job in youth work in the new era. It not only focuses on answering the vision of what kind of youth to train in the new era and the fundamental value position of who to train young people, but also solves the task of doing a good job in youth work "crossing the river" in the new era; It not only tells the important reasons why we should train young people, but also answers the practical questions of how to train young people. Since the 18th National Congress of the Communist Party of China, General Secretary Xi Jinping has attached great importance to youth work, went deep into the youth ranks, delivered a series of important speeches on doing a good job in youth work in the new era, and put forward clear requirements for young people to grow into talents. In General Secretary Xi Jinping's view, having ideals, skills and responsibilities is the bright background of newcomers of the times, and it is also the basic requirement and quality of Chinese youth in the new era. "Strengthening ideals and beliefs, practicing excellent skills, being brave in innovation and creation, being determined to work hard and tempering noble character" [14] This is not only a universal requirement for Chinese youth in the new era, but also points out the correct way for their development. The vast number of young people inherit their national endowments with the spirit of innovation and creation, and always walk at the forefront of innovation and creation in the world. We should cultivate the spirit of hard work, be a struggler in the new era, make unremitting efforts to realize the Chinese dream of great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation, and contribute our wisdom and strength. Obviously, General Secretary Xi Jinping's important expositions have expanded and enriched the theoretical connotation of Xi Jinping's youth expositions and provided scientific practical guidance for the development of Chinese youth in the new era.

4.3. Strategic significance: It has expanded the realization path of the Chinese nation's great rejuvenation of the Chinese dream and promoted the process of the Chinese dream

Strategic issues are fundamental issues related to the Party and the country. "Strategic judgment is accurate, strategic planning is scientific, and strategic initiative is won. The cause of the Party and the people is promising." [15] Realizing the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation is the greatest dream that the Chinese people have been striving for since modern times. Young people play a vital role in the process of realizing national rejuvenation. Young people can always make choices that are worthy of the country and the people, and always go to places where the Party and the people need them. Since the 18th National Congress of the Communist Party of China, General Secretary Xi Jinping has repeatedly mentioned the Chinese Dream and the Youth Dream, and emphasized that the Chinese Dream is the historical mission entrusted to young people by the times, and it is also the life stage for young people to realize their youth dreams. It should be emphasized that the Chinese dream and the youth dream complement each other, promote each other and are inseparable. On the one hand, the youth dream holds up the Chinese dream and helps its realization. Several generations of leading collectives of the Communist Party of China lead the people of the whole country to make unremitting efforts for the Chinese dream. Youth is the most dynamic and creative factor in this group, and it is necessary to give full play to the creative role of youth. On the other hand, the Chinese Dream leads the youth dream and opens up the navigation mode of the youth dream. The Chinese Dream inherits history, pays attention to the present and faces the future, which provides fundamental compliance for leading young people to make correct choices and establish life ideals. The Chinese dream must rely on the youth dream, rely on the continuous struggle of several generations, and build an important cornerstone of the Chinese dream with the youth dream. Xi Jinping's youth view takes training young people who can take on the responsibility of national rejuvenation as its strategic goal. Putting youth work in a more prominent position and emphasizing the focus and center of gravity of youth work in the new era is an important judgment put forward in combination with the current international situation and domestic development, which broadens the way to realize the Chinese dream and promotes the realization process of the Chinese dream.
