1. Introduction

in the current development and construction of colleges and universities, managing the school according to law is an important content. Using the form of legalization to carry out student management can effectively implement the national principles and policies of governing the country according to law and meet the basic needs of college education reform. In the process of implementing legalized education, college managers need to use effective means to improve the overall requirements of student management.

2. The Necessity of Legalization of Middle School Students' Management under the Background of Running the School According to Law

First of all, under the current background of running the school according to law, the legalization of student management is in line with the requirements of the country's rule of law. In the process of running the country according to law, China should build a socialist country under the rule of law. This principle has been incorporated into the provisions of the constitution. Therefore, running the school according to law is consistent with the theme of running the country according to law. Colleges and universities should timely deepen the innovation of law education, use their own platform to promote the construction of the rule of law in Colleges and universities, constantly enhance the level of students' rule of law, and make the operation and management of colleges and universities more governance, democratization and scientization. Secondly, the development of legalized student management in Colleges and universities is an inherent requirement of current higher education. China's education field is facing gradually deepening education reform, and it is also facing more changeable situations in the development of student management. Due to the diversity of students' ideas and the change of management effectiveness, it has brought great challenges to the management of colleges and universities. If the school is run according to law on the premise of governing the country according to law, the responsibility of student management will become more clear, improve the effectiveness and standardization of a number of management behaviors, enable more and more teachers and students to participate in management and supervision, and improve the overall quality of talent training. Finally, the legalization of student management can also promote the future development needs of students. Generally speaking, with the strengthening of College Students' concept of rights and awareness of the rule of law, a number of problems in college management are gradually revealed. The use of legalized management can help students truly solve the practical problems they encounter and straighten out the power and responsibility relationship between relevant subjects and student management, Timely confirm the effective measures of various management work, timely standardize the corresponding behavior in student management, and make the development of student management more stable [1].

3. Effective Measures of Legalization of Middle School Students' Management under the Background of Running the School According to Law

(1) Build an appropriate legal education system

In order to promote the feasibility and effectiveness of the legalization of student management, colleges and universities should strive to build an appropriate legal education system. Specifically, we should actively build a more standardized and complete education law system to keep the form and content of education law highly unified, so that all aspects of student management can have laws to follow. At present, both the central and local governments in China have a very complete and appropriate legislative system, and the legislature will formulate corresponding laws and regulations according to its own authority. Therefore, due to its different authority, the adjustment scope and legal effect of its laws are also different. During the development of education in Colleges and universities, their legislative work will be limited by legislative planning, technology and legislative cost. Some education departments will replace relevant laws and regulations with red head documents. In order to promote the overall development of education, colleges and universities should timely plan and standardize their own educational legislation. At the same time, managers also need to implement classified control over a number of normative documents and confirm internal rules and regulations with the help of appropriate legislative means. If some normative documents within the University deviate from laws and regulations, university managers should timely improve or abolish such documents, and their internal rules and regulations should be consistent with the laws and regulations of the education industry. For the internal rules and regulations formulated by colleges and universities, we should properly ensure their standardization and scientificity, and timely ensure the students' right to know defense and appeal. After formulating appropriate rules and regulations, they can not be changed at will.

(2) We will improve the supervision of the rule of law in education

During the period of carrying out the legalization of student management, colleges and universities should gradually improve the supervision of the rule of law in education, promote the legalization process of student management, and timely reduce the possible bad phenomena such as lax law enforcement and non-compliance with laws.

First, in terms of education legislation, relevant departments need to help colleges and universities build a perfect and appropriate legal supervision system to provide an effective management basis for the current education rule of law supervision. If the supervision system in the education rule of law can be improved and completed, it will not only timely enhance the effectiveness and standardization of education rule of law supervision; it can also effectively promote the legitimacy and authority of educational legal supervision, and timely eliminate the randomness in previous educational supervision.

Second, in the process of carrying out social supervision, its main supervision objects are social organizations, the people and public opinion. University managers should constantly strengthen their internal legal supervision, strictly supervise various behaviors in student management, timely improve a number of unreasonable management measures, and promote the legal construction of student management with the help of appropriate social supervision, Guarantee the legalized management level within colleges and universities [2].

(3) Strengthen education and publicity on the rule of law

During the implementation of the rule of law in student management, university managers should actively mobilize internal head teachers and counselors, use appropriate educational theories to change their theoretical ideas and strengthen the publicity of rule of law education. Generally speaking, in their daily work, head teachers and counselors in Colleges and universities should timely change their management methods and ideas, promote the efficiency and efficiency of management according to law, understand the overall growth law and education and teaching law of students, teach students more legal knowledge and guide them to know legal procedures through their own understanding and mastery of laws and regulations, When their own interests or interests are damaged, they can protect the legitimate rights and interests of students through relevant laws and regulations. At the same time, in the process of legal education publicity, we should timely extend or enrich the publicity contents and forms of legal education, and use the forms of speeches and debates, court attendance, legal lectures, social practice, theme activities or class and group meetings to guide more students to understand the concept and knowledge of the rule of law, sincerely believe in and support the construction of the rule of law in China, Gradually infiltrate the concept of discipline, the awareness of rules, the awareness of equality and freedom and the concept of rights and obligations in daily behavior and life.

(4) Set up legal education activities

Running the school according to law is a three-dimensional work of all-round, whole process and all staff. College teachers should constantly improve their legal professional knowledge, innovate their concept of rule of law, timely improve their legal literacy, and set a good example for students. During education and teaching, college teachers need to timely integrate the concept of rule of law into the whole process of education, take classroom teaching as the main channel to implement the concept of rule of law, use the spirit of rule of law to enrich students' minds, comprehensively enhance the effectiveness and implementation of rule of law education, and promote students' overall rule of law literacy. Generally speaking, in order to promote college students' concept of the rule of law, teachers should actively design legal education activities in daily teaching, use the popularization of such activities to strengthen the integration of legal theory and legal practice, and improve the practical effect of students' legal education activities. At the same time, other managers in Colleges and universities should also timely improve their awareness of the rule of law and fairness in their daily work, always adhere to the working concept of serving the growth of students, fully respect the legitimate rights and interests of students, timely grasp their differentiated needs and personalized development, and provide appropriate platforms and resources for the improvement of students' comprehensive ability. A number of legal education activities are used to bring better service, education and management to students [3].

(5) Enhance students' awareness of rule of law management

In the process of promoting the construction of rule of law in Colleges and universities, in addition to the appropriate rule of law education and management by managers, head teachers and counselors, students' own awareness of the rule of law should also be strengthened in time. Specifically, the important internal force of colleges and universities in carrying out student management is student cadres. With its effective demonstration and leading effect, it can enhance the self-discipline ability and legal concept of all students, so as to greatly improve the supervision and participation rate of student management.

First, in the process of carrying out legal education activities, colleges and universities should not only timely enrich the forms and contents of such activities, but also carry out targeted guidance, training and education for student cadres, and make use of their possible exemplary role to do a good job in daily supervision, behavior inspection and publicity education.

Second, colleges and universities can also borrow the current concept of rule of law education, timely establish committees related to student affairs, promote student cadres as student representatives, let them participate in students' rights and interests or learning, make students understand the concern of the school and actively participate in the rule of law management of colleges and universities, With the help of a number of effective means, we should effectively safeguard our voting rights, decision-making rights, criticism rights, suggestions, supervision rights and the right to know, so as to enable students to participate in major affairs related to the development of their own interests, comprehensively enhance the effect of the rule of law in student management, and effectively safeguard their basic interests.

4. Conclusion

To sum up, under the background of running the university according to law, university managers should build an appropriate legalized management system to promote the legalized development of student management. In the process of carrying out this work, we should increase the proportion of students participating in this affair and promote the effect of legalized management with the help of the improvement of students' concept of rule of law.
