ABSTRACT. In his discussion of youth work, Xi Jinping mentioned that if the times want to further develop, we must cultivate the corresponding Marx doctrine. There are some problems in the training of young Marxists in Colleges and universities, such as the lack of refinement of training objects, the coarseness of training contents and the lack of periodicity of training programs. Under the condition of Xi Jinping's youth thought as the theoretical basis, we should realize the actual effect of training contents, cultivate a certain division of objects, and choose training programs with characteristics of life.

1. Introduction

In May 2007, the Communist Youth League launched the “Tsing Ma project” to plan and position the training of young Marxists, and adopted the form of “project”. It is the main goal of “Tsing Ma project” to cultivate Marxist youth who are firm in politics, pure in ideology, broad in knowledge and professional in skills, so that they can become the outstanding talents and main components of the Marxist team. “Tsing Ma project” has made extensive exploration and research through 10 years of historical development, and has also made some achievements. In recent years, “Tsing Ma project” also faces bottleneck problems. Therefore, it is necessary to comprehensively reflect on the development in the past 10 years to ensure that this project can achieve a new breakthrough.

2. The significance of training young marxists

The sinicized Marxism follows the progress of China, and the progress of today's society is inseparable from its support. The sinicization of Marxism and the development of China complement each other. According to the current situation of China's development, the content of Marxism should be flexibly adapted and integrated into China's specific reality. And finally put this Chinese painting thought into practice, and then promote the progress and development of China. The “Tsing Ma project” was published in April 2017 by the CPC Central Committee and the State Council in the medium and long term youth development plan (2016-2025). It is known as one of the ten key projects. This also means that the “Tsing Ma project” has entered a very important stage of development. It is also an important deployment. The Central Committee of the party with Xi Jinping as its core is based on the fundamental interests of the party and the people. Foothold. Xi Jinping has made a lot of important speeches. Since the eighteen Party's Congress, he has strengthened the attention and importance of youth work. The scientific concept of Xi Jinping's youth has also been formed. This can effectively lead the universities to carry out related work and improve their efficiency.

3. General secretary Xi Jinping's exposition on the cultivation of young Marx doctrine

Youth education and training work is a great concern of general secretary Xi Jinping. Xi Jinping's youth view is of great historical significance and guiding value. In many important conferences, Xi Jinping has raised many issues related to youth groups, since the eighteen Party Congress, youth outlook is the direction of young people, so that they can have a clear direction, they believe that young people should be used to pursue their dreams on the basis of historical responsibilities, all of these have important guiding significance for the youth marxists training work.

3.1 Young marxists should have a distinct political nature and a strong sense of The Times

Learning and practicing marxist Chinese language theory is something that contemporary youth should take the initiative to do. They should keep pace with The Times in their personal development, strive for the lofty communist ideal in their outlook on life, and at the same time improve their professional ability and ability to build socialism. The two main requirements of young marxists, pointed out by comrade Xi Jinping, are their distinct political nature and strong sense of The Times.

(1) Distinctly political

To strengthen their ideological and political awareness is a must for young Marxist. They must adhere to the political foundation of the proletariat based on Marxism Leninism, Mao Zedong Thought and Deng Xiaoping theory. They must have distinct political beliefs and subjective political positions. In order to achieve their own growth and success, young Marxist must adhere to the use of marks in their study and work. To guide our own progress by thinking, we must adhere to the Marxist thinking and stand methods, and solve various problems and problems facing China at present.

(2) A strong sense of The Times

The key guarantee of Marx's vitality is to keep pace with the times. In Xi Jinping's report, it is pointed out that young people should strive to serve the people and society and solve the difficulties in society. According to the current situation and form of social development, we should pay more attention to the application of young Marxist theory and undertake the new mission in the new era. Xi Jinping once said: the Chinese dream belongs to us. At that time, as young people, China was even more yours. This requires many young people to work together to achieve the prosperity and revitalization of the Chinese nation.

3.2 Young marxists should shoulder the great task of rejuvenating the Chinese nation

In order to realize the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation, young people should constantly improve their own value and shoulder the responsibility of The Times, study hard, practice and struggle hard, dare to innovate and explore. In today's social development process, young people should assume the future and hope of themselves and even the whole country and nation, so they should be determined to struggle all their lives. A rare opportunity in our life is to strive for the realization of the Chinese dream of the great renewal of the Chinese nation. Every young man should do his part well and strive for the development of the new era.

4. Measures to cultivate marxists in colleges and universities

4.1 Study the classic works of marxism-leninism

Marxism-leninism has left many classic works, in which various theories of knowledge still have important guiding significance, and many of them are not outdated. College students should read more marxist-leninist works, explore their significance, and sublimate their personal self-restraint and ideological cognition. The school should carry out more activities to study classical works, so that students can participate in the study of marxism-leninism, so that students can firm their beliefs, more love the communist party of China, more love their work. Willing to work for the party and dedication of their youth and full of passion, so as to achieve their own life value, to promote the party more optimized. This can also avoid students in the mind of a variety of bad cognitive, so as to affect their learning behavior.

4.2 Absorb the nutrients of excellent traditional culture

Cultivating college work should also be based on the excellent traditional culture, because of excellent traditional culture also has a number of important theory and the significance, also can make students more full of cultural connotation and now chairman xi also in promoting learning excellent culture, xi President also often use many of excellent cultural principle to guide the party's work, to promote the country's prosperity and progress. In traditional culture, people are put first, which is highly consistent with the ideology of our party. We should work harder to serve the people and solve all kinds of difficulties in people's life. The Confucian culture also stresses benevolence and righteousness, and the party building work also stresses benevolence, handling all kinds of affairs with benevolence. To the party spirit construction also should depend on to combine all sorts of connotation of contemporary, also can achieve the result that ancient and modern combine so. Improve the heart of students, it into unlimited power, to promote the construction of our party to a higher level.

4.3 Take a clear stand on politics

Under the leadership of the communist party of China, is a clear-cut stand about politics, based on the function and the party's basic attribute, so as to promote the smooth progress of the work of colleges and universities, colleges and universities construction can get higher levels of marxism to firm its various positions in the work, ensure that our party is to serve the people, to do their own efforts to contribute to the people. All our work positions must be based on the people and must not be divorced from them. This goes against the essence of the party and the party cannot win the support of the people. Therefore, we should stand firm and speak clearly about politics. It is also necessary to accurately position the direction of students' development, so that students can continue to expand in a better direction and expand the scope of influence of marxism.

4.4 Use the weapon of criticism and self-criticism

Students will also make some mistakes and deficiencies in their study, which are inevitable. However, after making mistakes, we should be able to recognize our own mistakes, actively carry out self-criticism, strive to correct our shortcomings and shortcomings, and strive to make greater contributions. For students to make some mistakes, to dare to criticize and correct, so that they can understand their own shortcomings, but also can play the role of the supervision of teachers, urge other students to progress together, learn together. In the criticism of the time should also be based on reality, not to frame and force other students, also do not exaggerate a variety of facts, from an objective point of view to correct them. For others pointed out the mistakes, but also to accept and learn modestly, adhering to a positive and modest attitude, so as to become a more excellent qualified marxist. Is really based on the epistemology this important principle, can learn useful knowledge.

4.5 Pay attention to the cultivation way of life

Taking the actual needs of students as the basic starting point and end point, it is important to realize the life style of "Tsing Ma project" in Colleges and universities. Through the people-oriented guidance for students, so that students can better carry out life. In order to solve students' problems in a real sense, it is necessary to understand students and help them constantly, rather than talk about social practice in a general way and encourage students to participate in it, so that students can continuously improve their self-value in the process of practice. As for the training mode, we should change the original teaching mode, devote ourselves to the exploration and research of more effective, intuitive and interesting mode, and improve the quality of practice to the greatest extent. For example, colleges and universities can hold some “Tsing Ma students” only community activities and some public interest activities, so that realistic political and international affairs can be linked to the cultivation of Marx's responsibility, so that the scientific and advanced nature of Marx should be firmly rooted in the hearts of young people.

5. Conclusion

In general, for a new era of youth, for they will face of social challenges, the cultivation of the marxist work is therefore extremely important to continuously strengthen the cultivation of college marxist, set up the correct and guiding ideology, the demand for social development the new era of marxist.
