ABSTRACT. By using the methods of literature, video observation, data statistics and comparative analysis, this paper makes a statistical and comparative analysis of the technical data of China's women's football team in the third place competition of Jordan women's football Asian Cup in 2018 vs. Thailand's women's football. The Chinese women's football team showed their strength and beat the weaker Thai women's football team 3-1 in an oppressive way, and won the third place in the 2018 Jordan women's Asian Cup. The Chinese women's football team is faced with a relatively weak team. Although it has a higher ball control rate and a higher comprehensive combat power, the game did not show much advantage in the first half. In the first half, the number of attacks controlled by the game scene was not as high as that of the Thai women's football team, and the pass and catch failure rate in the middle and front court was not low, but the opportunities created through its own cooperation were not many, and more depended on local individuals' ability and opponent gift. The final conclusion is that today's Chinese women's football has a long way to go. We need to face up to our own strength and characteristics, put in the right mentality, do not forget the original intention, and continue to move forward with honor.

1. Introduction

2018 is a year of rapid development in China and an extraordinary year for Chinese women's football. In this fast-paced way of playing football in the 21st century, when China Women's football Asian Cup competed for the third and fourth place, it met its old rival Thailand women's football. In the second half of the group match before that, the Chinese women's football team performed very well. In the third place competition, the Chinese women's football team successfully killed the Thai women's football team cruelly, winning the third place with strength and applause, and ending the 2018 Asian women's Football Cup in Jordan. Even if it's a pity that it hasn't appeared in the finals in ten years, but in today's booming women's football in all countries of the world, if you want to go back to the brilliant and peak era that dominated Asia before, it can be said that it's very difficult and difficult to complete.

However, at 21:45 on April 20, 2018, the women's Asian Cup final was held in Jordan. Under the fierce and strong competition, the Chinese women were enough to score the goals of Song Duan, Li Ying and Wang Shanshan successfully and accurately, beat the Thai women's football team 3-1, and won the third place in the Asian cup of women's football. This article is based on the detailed, true and accurate observation and analysis of the video of the match between Chinese women's football team and its opponents. It is an accurate and credible statistical and comparative analysis of the technical data of the match between Chinese women's football team and Thai women's football team in the Asian cup of Jordan women's football team, and draws some characteristics of Chinese women's football team and its opponents in this Asian Cup, and finds out the characteristics of Chinese women's football team and its opponents. The advantages and disadvantages between the Chinese women's football team and its opponents, and put forward corresponding suggestions, aiming to provide theoretical basis for the training and selection of the tickets of the World Cup held in France in June and July this year.

2. Methodology

2.1 Documentary method

Based on literature review, some references of Chinese women's football team and Thai women's football team were collected on the official website of Asian Cup women's Football League. And through the computer retrieval of China HowNet, the official website of Jiangxi Normal University Library, the digital library of China Journal Network, in the super star learning software and Jiangxi Normal University Library, we have read a large number of domestic and foreign related literature, academic monographs, journals, newspapers, and determined the research indicators, data and other content.

2.2 Video observation

Carefully watched the video of the women's Asian Cup in 2018, and made statistics on the ball control rate, shooting, dangerous attack, attack times, red card, yellow card, foul, offside, corner kick, free kick, etc.

2.3 Data statistics

After watching the video data of Chinese women's football team vs. Thai women's football team, the important data of the two teams in the aspects of comprehensive combat power, scene control, attack and defense characteristics, half field and event statistics were counted and recorded. In addition, the statistical data are processed with scientific methods of sports statistics, and the most popular computer is used to calculate the corresponding statistical processing and analysis, such as SPSS software.

2.4 Comparative analysis

A large number of complex and tedious data will be processed carefully under the methods of comparison, induction and reasoning.

3. Research results and analysis

3.1 Comparative analysis of the offensive force of Chinese women's football and Thai women's football

3.1.1 One of the comparative analysis of attack force

China's women's football team achieved the third place in the 2018 Jordan women's football Asian Cup, marking that the level of China's women's football team has entered the top position in Asia. In the group match, although we had a 4-0 victory over Thailand, and the three or four finals met our old opponent Thailand, but the first half of the game did not have a big advantage. It can be seen from table 1 that the final score of Chinese women's football team and Thai women's football team is 3:1; the number of shots is 22; the number of shots is 6 for Thai women's football team, 11 for Chinese women's football team, and 4 for Thai women's football team; the number of corner kicks is 4 for Chinese women's football team, 3 for Thai women's football team; the number of free kicks is 12 for Chinese women's football team and 10 for Thai women's football team. From the above data, China's women's football team is obviously better than Thailand's in the game, but also played their strengths. The Chinese women's football team in the face of a relatively weak team, we can find that the Chinese women's football team has a relatively large advantage in the game, regardless of their own personal ability, basic skills, have obvious advantages and creativity.

Table 1 Comparative Analysis of attack force

Teams	Score	Shoot	Shoot positive	Corner kick	Free kick
Chinese Women's Football	3	22	11	4	12
Thailand women's football team	1	6	4	3	10

3.1.2 Comparative analysis of attack force

It can be seen from table 2 that the ball control rate of Chinese women's football team is 51%, that of Thai women's football team is 49%; the number of dangerous attacks of Chinese women's football team is 78, that of Thai women's football team is 58; the number of attacks of Chinese women's football team is 92, and that of Thai women's football team is 73. On the whole, the performance of Chinese women's football team is relatively good, but in the first half of the game, it did not show too many advantages. In the middle and front field, the failure rate is not low, and the opportunities created through their own cooperation are not much, more depends on the local personal ability and the opponent's gift. Chinese women's football team is a strong Asian team with superior technical and tactical level and relatively superior physical quality. At present, in the football match, the physical confrontation will be more and more intense, and the conversion speed of attack and defense will be faster and faster. Therefore, Chinese women's football undoubtedly ranks first in Asia. But now the Chinese women's football is a long way to go. Only by facing up to the strength and characteristics of the Chinese women's football, uniting, striding forward and keeping up the energy, will it succeed, reshape the brilliance and make the fans like it. I hope that Chinese women's football team can once again bloom in the future world women's football and remain invincible.

Table 2 Table 2 of comparative analysis of attack force

Teams	Score	Ball control rate	Dangerous attack	Attack times
Chinese Women's Football	3	51%	78	92
Thailand women's football team	1	49%	58	73

3.2 Comparative analysis on the defensive ability of Chinese women's football and Thai women's football

It can be seen from table 3 that the score of Chinese women's football team and Thailand team is 3:1; offside Chinese women's football team has 3 times, Thailand women's football team has 2 times; the total number of fouls is 7 times, Thailand women's football team has 10 times; red card Chinese women's football team and Thailand women's football team have zero; yellow card Chinese women's football team has zero, Thailand women's football team has one. In the post match with Thailand team, Thailand team was almost suppressed by the Chinese women's football team. The Chinese women's football team's attack and defense, the number of fouls and so on have obvious adjustment. This also reflects that at some time, the Chinese women's football team has a tacit understanding of the coordination and defense, which is also one of the advantages that the Chinese team can continue to carry forward in the future training. Although the height of Chinese women's football is not particularly high, the overall body is still relatively strong. Players can better use their skills and tactics, and they can avoid danger and foul in the very dangerous time. This is the requirement of modern football competition at present that team members must have excellent individual attack and defense ability, and also form their superior attack and defense system Fundamental. It is expected that the Chinese women's football team can continue to strengthen the specialized training in this area, so as to know each other, develop strengths and avoid weaknesses, and go to a higher level.

Table 3 List of defense comparison

Teams	Score	Offside	Fouls	Red card	Yellow card
Chinese Women's Football	3	3	7	0	0
Thailand women's football team	1	2	10	0	1

3.3 A comparative analysis of the comprehensive techniques of Chinese women's football and Thai women's football in the Asian Cup

From table 4, it can be seen from the attack times and attack efficiency controlled by the match scenes of China Women ' The situation of being robbed by the opponent, and then being hit back by the opponent. As long as it's not reasonable to deal with the ball, on the one hand, the intensity of training is not enough, and the practice is not proficient. On the other hand, it exposes a serious and terrible problem, that is, the overall Chinese women's football's technical and tactical thinking is a little bit inconsistent, basically uneven, but this has a considerable relationship with the coach.

Table 4 List of comprehensive technical comparison and analysis

Teams	Comprehensive combat capability	Ball control rate	Attack times	Offensive efficiency	Shooting times	Defense efficiency	Number of shots
Chinese Women's Football	70%	48.7%	The 70.9 time	7 times / ball	The 16.1 time	9.2times / ball	The 11.0 time
Thailand women's football team	30%	48.5%	The 79.3 time	8.0times / ball	The 12.8 time	8.5times / ball	The 19.5 time

To be honest, the Chinese team will not lack the players with personal ability, skills and characteristics, but in the end, sometimes they do not play in the game, which makes people very confused. For example: Wang Shuang and song Duan of the Chinese women's football team in the first half, after several consecutive breakthroughs, either the passing position of the last pass is not good, or the breakthrough is far away from the goal.

4. Conclusion and suggestion

4.1 Conclusion

4.1.1 Overall deficiency

In Jordan's women's Asian Cup third place, China's women's football team beat Thailand 3 vs 1, and won the third place (third place) in the Asian cup of this year's countries. Encouragingly, it successfully won the precious place of the women's world cup to be held in France this year. From the comprehensive situation of this competition of the Chinese women's football team in the China Jordan Asian Cup, in fact, the strength of the Chinese women's football team is not as strong as that shown in the group match, but it is not as weak as that shown in the semi-finals. Although the women's football team has great strength and self-confidence, there are still a lot of deficiencies in the technical and tactical aspects and the integrity, which need to be further improved.

4.1.2 Insufficient defense in Asian Cup

From the current situation of the Chinese women's football team in the Asian Cup, China's women's football team still does not have the courage and strength to fight and attack with the strong opponent PK, and we have a problem in the middle and front field. When we cooperate with the passing and receiving, we have a big gap with other powerful opponents, so we are based on the football field Defense is the key point for Chinese women's football team to take advantage of the weak in Asian Cup, world cup and Olympic Games.

4.2 Suggestion

4.2.1 Adjust mentality

In the future development of women's football, we should adjust our own personal mentality: "do not rejoice with the material, do not grieve with ourselves". In the future, how strong and weak the women's football team will be, and whether their performance will be good or bad, the main point is whether they can make good use of the scientific and extraordinary means of modern women's football to analyze it. According to whether different teams can adjust to make corresponding changes according to the circumstances, how to adjust the training quality of women's football girls, how to change the response measures of youth training, whether they can formulate and plan to develop their strengths and avoid their weaknesses, whether they can maintain their high-quality, steady and stable development The stereotype is rising. I also hope that the Chinese women's football team will continue to work hard in the World Cup held in France in June and July this year, adjust their mentality, defeat their opponents in the best condition, and finally achieve good results.

4.2.2 Improve attack methods

In order to improve the way and method of attack, Chinese women's football team must, under the arrangement and scheduling of the coach, unify their ideas, use the knife on the blade, use the opportunity to break through, and use the time and position suitable for stability. It is just the so-called "time and place are favorable to people", before breaking through, they must learn to use the technical and tactical strategic system of all the players to stably and safely transport the ball To the feet of these more characteristic and capable players, try to avoid the failure of the game caused by too many mistakes.

4.2.3 Strengthen overall defense cooperation

Although the defensive ability of Chinese women's football team in the third place is better, there are still a lot of problems in the whole Asian Cup. Therefore, in the usual training, we should pay attention to strengthen the overall defense tactical cooperation, master the use of different timing techniques, and strengthen the cultivation of defense awareness. In normal teaching competitions, we should consciously arrange and use regional man marking defense, and pay attention to the combination of each link of regional man marking with the overall tactics, and the organic combination of individual defense ability and the overall tactics of the whole team, so as to ensure that Chinese women's football can skillfully use a variety of tactics to compete, so that Chinese women's football can cope with different characteristics. When the team is playing, it can play its own advantages to win.
